

NPRLG Resources Newsletter

July 2020: REU Assessment

Dear NPRLG,

For the third edition of our NPRLG Resources Newsletter we're covering program assessment.

As a reminder, each month, we'll be sending one resource on a specific theme. The idea is for each newsletter to spark conversation and for the community to share their own resources/ideas on the month's topic. I'll monitor these discussions and compile resources by theme in the NPRLG Google Drive.

This Month: REU Assessment

This month, the resource I'm sharing is the URSSA questions as a Google Form, which you can freely copy into your own document and adapt as you see fit. URSSA is a validated tool for assessing undergrad research experiences and you can learn more about it here.

If you have any alternative program assessment practices or surveys, feel free to share!

Future Newsletters

Planned ideas for future newsletters include: undergrad research mentoring (not just online-focused), tips for preparing NSF reports, best practices for sorting applications, etc.

If you have a resource (developed by/for your site or not) you want to share, or topic ideas, for coming months, let me know.

Best wishes,

Daniel